GeoJournal

An International Journal on Human Geography and Environmental Sciences

Volume contents 62 nos. 1–4 2005

Volume 62 nos. 1–2 2005

Urban planning in Hong Kong and integration with the Pearl River Delta: A historical account of local development
Louis Augustin-Jean 1–13

Wal-Mart and Aldi: Two retail giants in Germany
Ulrike Gerhard, Barbara Hahn 15–26

In situ agrobiodiversity conservation for regional development in Nepal
Douglas Bardsley, Ian Thomas 27–39

Entrepreneurial regionalist planning in a rescaled Spain: The cases of Bilbao and València
David L. Prytherch, Laura Huntoon 41–50

'Boundary' in ancient Persian tradition of statehood
Pirouz Mojtahed-Zadeh 51–58

'Competing regionalisation' through territory and cluster networks: Experiences from post-socialist eastern Germany
Tassilo Herrschel 59–70

Development and the household: Missing the point?
Edward R. Carr 71–83

Regional population and employment change in Australia 1991–2001: Inertia in the face of rapid change?
Scott Baum, Kevin O'Connor 85–94

Causes of forest encroachment: An analysis of Bangladesh
M.S. Iftekhar, A.K.F. Hoque 95–106

Review-essay

Perspectives on regionalism in (southern) Africa
Maano Ramutsindela 107–110

Book review 111–112

Theme Section: Opportunities and Challenges for Development in Africa

Edited by: Francis Owusu

Introduction
Francis Owusu 115–116

Kenya's secondary cities growth strategy at a crossroads: Which way forward?
Kefa M. Otiso 117–128

What has corruption got to do with it? Understanding the persistence of rural-urban and inter-regional inequalities in Ghana and Zimbabwe
Kwadwo Konadu-Agyemang, Judith Shabaya 129–146

Housing the urban poor in twenty-first century Sub-Saharan Africa: Policy mismatch and a way forward for Ghana
Ian E.A. Yeboah 147–161

Vulnerability, partnerships and the pursuit of survival: Urban livelihoods and apprenticeship contracts in a West African City
Kobena Hanson 163–179

Value of climate forecasts for adjusting farming strategies in sub-Saharan Africa
Abigail Amissah-Arthur 181–189

Volume 62 nos. 3–4 2005

Guest Editor's preface
Matthias Kuhle 191

The maximum Ice Age (Würmian, Last Ice Age, LGM) glaciation of the Himalaya – a glaciogeomorphological investigation of glacier trim-lines, ice thicknesses and lowest former ice margin positions in the Mt. Everest–Makalu–Cho Oyu massifs (Khumbu and Khumbakarna Himal) including informations on late-glacial, neoglacial, and historical glacier stages, their snow-line depressions and ages
Matthias Kuhle 193–650

Volume contents 63 nos. 1–4 2005

Volume 63 nos. 1–4 2005

Historical glacier-dammed lakes and outburst floods in the Karambar valley (Hindukush–Karakoram)
Lasafam Iturrizaga 1–47

The glacial history of landscape in the Batura Muztagh, NW Karakoram
S. Meiners 49–90

Geomorphological and pedological investigations on the glacial history of the Kali Gandaki (Nepal Himalaya)
Markus Wagner 91–113

Contents Tibet and High Asia, nos. I–VII 115–119

Volume contents 121–122